naming Jiunn-Liang KO; Yu-Lu HUANG; Tzu-Chih CHEN; Hsu-Wei HUNG; Ho-Lung JIANG; Ching-Lung HU; Cheng-Chun KUAN and Hsuan-Ju THOU as the inventors.

3. On July 26, 2006, I sent a cover letter and a copy of both the Declaration and the Assignment documents (collectively, the "formal documents") to each of the named inventors at their last known mailing address. See Attachment 1 and its English translation.

4. The cover letter provided to the inventors with the formal documents explained the requirement under 37 C.F.R. § 1.64 that each of the actual inventors must execute an Oath or Declaration in compliance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.63 in order to complete the application. See Attachment 2 and its English translation.

5. Also included with the formal documents was a reply form on which the inventor(s) could provide additional explanation in the event they were unwilling to sign the Declaration. See Attachment 3 and its English translation.

6. We received signed Declaration documents from Jiunn-Liang KO; Yu-Lu HUANG; Tzu-Chih CHEN and Hsuan-Ju THOU, respectively, but did not from Hsu-Wei HUNG; Ching-Lung HU; Ho-Lung JIANG or Cheng-Chun KUAN.

7. On Dec. 3, 2007, I sent the patent specification including claims along with the formal documents to each of the nonsigning inventors at their last known mailing address.

10. When contacted by David KO, recalcitrant inventor Hsu-Wei HUNG advised that he refused to sign the Declaration until such time as a dispute regarding the assignment of rights in the invention with Yeastern Biotech Corporation is resolved to his satisfaction.

11. When contacted by David KO, recalcitrant inventor Cheng-Chun KUAN specifically advised that he refused to sign the Declaration until such time as a dispute regarding the assignment of rights in the invention with Yeastern Biotech Corporation is resolved to his satisfaction.
